SUSTAINABLE INFRASTRUCTURE DEVELOPMENT SYMPOSIUM (SIDSSA) 2025

ABOUT THE EVENT

SIDSSA 25
26-27 May
Century City Conference Centre

The Sustainable Infrastructure Development Symposium (SIDSSA) serves as a platform that convenes key stakeholders in infrastructure investment, united by the objective of accelerating an infrastructure-driven economic recovery plan.

The President of the Republic of South Africa, Mr. Cyril Ramaphosa, convened the symposium, which included participation from Government Ministers, major asset owners, leading private investors and fund managers, Multilateral Development Banks (MDBs), developers, technology innovators, and key advisors.

The primary objective of the event was to ensure alignment with the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) and South Africa's National Development Plan (NDP) and to secure improved access to sustainable and cost-effective funding sources. Furthermore, it aimed to emphasise the digital, agricultural, and housing sectors, which correspond to 10 of the 17 SDGs related to Infrastructure.

MOSHATE COMMUNICATIONS

ABOUT THE EVENT

The developmental aspect of SIDSSA is rooted in its public sector-led demand-side stimulus, focusing on GDP growth and job creation.

The symposium prioritised active participation from a select group of individuals and institutions collaborating towards the execution of projects presented within SIDSSA. The underlying principle of SIDSSA is to assemble State Owned Entities, Multilateral Development Banks (MDBs), Development Finance Institutions (DFIs), the Private Sector, and Academia in this inaugural African consultation session.

The event featured comprehensive discussions on the latest developments in finance, sustainable infrastructure, and the impact of emerging technologies, followed by in-depth explorations of specific sectors, including energy, urban development, and transportation. These discussions were complemented by case studies showcasing pioneering projects, advanced technologies, and innovative funding structures. An additional highlight was the “Marketplace,” a networking forum designed for infrastructure leaders to present their ideas, projects, or solutions to stakeholders across the value chain.

ABOUT THE EVENT

The foundations of the Rose Foundation were first laid in April 1994 after the government withdrew support for the used oil re-refining industry. Previously lubricants were taxed to subsidize the rerefining of used oil back into lubricating oil. When this subsidy was removed, the major lubricant companies operating in South Africa took it upon themselves to help protect the environment. So, they formed the ROSE Foundation to prevent the irresponsible dumping and burning of used lubricating oil. ROSE's primary objective is to collect as much used lubricating oil as possible and to add as much value to this oil within the strictest environmental standards. Our stated objective is to encourage cleaner production before waste reduction and waste minimisation. Failing that we aim to recycle or reprocess used lube oil into economically valuable products.
